PRESS RELEASE

Ring of desire

Oris is delighted to introduce the Herzog Loibner Edition, a 250-piece limited-edition watch produced in collaboration with our friends at the house of Herzog Loibner Fine Jewelry, a first-generation family jewellers in Liechtenstein founded by specialist jewellers Bianca Herzog and Susanne Loibner. Herzog Loibner's creations are recognised around the world for their colourful, expressive and yet natural use of gemstones. In partnership, Oris and Herzog Loibner have conceived a fresh, highly memorable expression of the timeless Divers Sixty-Five. It's cast in 36mm of solid, naturally ageing bronze, and has a gradient brown dial to complement the bronze case and bezel. As the colour darkens towards the outer edge, it meets the watch's signature element: a ring of black diamonds set into the bezel. The 50 brilliant-cut diamonds are totaling around 1.5 carats. The watch is powered by an automatic mechanical movement that gives it hour, minutes, central seconds and date functions, all operated via a bronze screw-in security crown that ensures water resistance to 10 bar (100 metres). The watch has a stainless steel case back engraved with Herzog Loibner's signature 'Aldusblatt' – a heart-shaped Aldus leaf that serves as a symbol of love and friendship – and the watch's limited-edition number. The brooding picture is completed by a black soft leather strap with a bronze buckle.
